

I am against the FCC implementing any National Telephone Privacy measure, which would diminish the existing Indiana law. I signed up for the Indiana "Do Not Call List" on 4-1-02. Since that time my household has gone from receiving 12+ call per week to nearly zero. I am extremely pleased with the Indiana law and would be very disappointed to have it weakened by a preemptive national law. My family can now answer our phone without the dread of hearing a telemarketer. Please do not do anything that could change our Indiana law -- nothing could be done to improve what we already have. Thanks for your consideration.
